References to data protection:

By sending information to contact addresses listed here, it is possible that personal data is acquired, which will be handled with the utmost confidentiality according to the German Data Protection Act. Personal data are all information about specific or definable persons. A person is seen as definable when he or she can be identified directly or indirectly. An e-mail address can already be seen as a form of identification.

According to the Data Prevention Regulations we try to survey, process or use as few as possible personal data. When our website is accessed, information is collected and stored in log-files. The following information is stored: Date and time of access, client IP-address, accessed files, browser used by the user, used protocol and referencing page. In general, it is not possible to establish a reference to the person using the site as long as a static IP-address is not used. In any case, such personal reference is accidental. Information on log-files is used solely for statistical purposes and to improve our website presence.

If we receive personal data of previously mentioned nature and extent, we will store this information on our especially secure servers in Germany and the USA. Access to these servers is limited to few, especially authorized persons, whose responsibility it is to deal with these matters on a professional or technical level. Data is used exclusively for purposes of business contacts. Once these objectives have been reached, data will be destroyed immediately. Information given to us will not be forwarded to third parties. We avoid the use of 'cookies' (small files with configuration information) on our website.
