Your Role:

As a member of the IP & Legal team, you will search all relevant information within the topic IP. In this very important role, you will provide a solid foundation for numerous important decisions in the areas of research, innovation and product development. This task includes patentability assessments, drafting of patent applications and responses to patent office actions.

- You will conduct freedom-to-operate (FTO) searches for new R&D projects and potential new products and provide strategic advice on 3rd party IP.
- Through patentability searches, you will provide detailed assessments of relevant prior art and advise on strategies for protection of new inventions and circumvention of potential IP risks.
- In close collaboration with the R&D team, you will identify new patentable matter.
- In your daily work, you will have access to advanced databases and software.
- You will be part of an experienced international team and communicate worldwide in English.

Your Profile:

- University degree (MSc or PhD) in Chemistry
- Long-term experience in FTO and patentability searches for chemical compounds. Experience in analysis of complex patent landscapes is highly desirable.
- Good knowledge of organic chemistry. Basic understanding of organic semiconductor devices is an advantage
- Strong interpersonal, negotiating, analytical and problem-solving skills
- Business English; additional languages such as Korean, Chinese or Japanese are an advantage.
- Expert knowledge in Scifinder and PatBase or similar.

You can expect attractive social benefits, e.g. 30 days of vacation, kindergarten allowance, recreation allowance, allowance for sports activities, free hot and cold drinks as well as an in-house canteen. Regular team events and management information meetings complete our offer.
